CYBER SAFETY GUY

LOCKET WIDGET

A PARENT'S GUIDE

Locket is a photo-sharing widget that lives on your home screen. You and your child's friends can send pictures that appear instantly in the widget. It's fun, personal and constant – so it's important to understand how it works and how to keep it safe.

TEENS LOVE IT
Millions of young people use Locket to stay close with their friends.

REAL-TIME SHARING
Photos appear instantly on each other's home screens.

PRIVATE BY DESIGN*
Content is only shared with people you choose.

BUILT FOR CONNECTION
Simple, positive moments shared throughout the day.

*Private between friends, but not without risks. This guide explains both.

1 WHAT IS LOCKET?

Locket is a free app that puts a live photo feed from your friends on your home screen.

You send a photo – it appears on their widget. They send one – it appears on yours.

It's designed for close friends and real-life connections.

Photos cannot be seen outside your friends list.

2 HOW IT WORKS

1 Add friends
You and your child add each other (usually by link or QR code).

2 Send a photo
They take a photo in the app and send it to their friends.

3 It appears instantly
The photo shows up on their friends' widget right away.

4 Reply with your own
Friends can keep sharing moments throughout the day.

TIP: It's not a public feed or social media. It's just you and the friends you choose.

3 WHAT PARENTS SHOULD KNOW

It feels personal and constant.
Photos appear on a widget your child sees every time they unlock their phone.

It's easy to share too much.
Photos may include location clues, routines or things better kept private.

Friends list = audience.
Make sure your child only adds people they know and trust in real life.

It's not moderated.
Locket doesn't filter photos. What's shared is up to your child and their friends.

Private doesn't mean risk-free. Small moments can reveal big things over time.

4 SAFETY SETTINGS TO CHECK

Save Incoming Photos: Keep OFF so others can't save photos to their camera roll.

Hide Locket from Friends: Use if they want a break or more privacy.

Manage Friends: Only add people they know and trust in real life.

Take Breaks: It's OK to pause or take a break from the app.

Check these together and revisit them regularly.

5 TALKING POINTS

- Who are you sharing with on Locket?
- What kind of photos are OK to send – and not OK?
- Could someone guess where you are or what you're doing from your photos?
- Would you send this photo if a teacher, coach or future employer saw it?
- How would you feel if someone screen-shotted your photo?

Keep the conversation open, calm and judgment-free. It helps them make safer choices.

6 POTENTIAL RISKS

Location clues
Backgrounds, landmarks or routines can reveal where they are.

Over-sharing
Too much personal info can be pieced together over time.

Wrong friends
Adding someone they don't really know could lead to uncomfortable situations.

Screenshots
Others can still screenshot photos and share them elsewhere.

Remind your child:
Think before you snap.
Once it's sent,
you can't control
what happens next.

7 QUICK START FOR PARENTS

1. Download Locket and explore it together.
2. Review the settings in Section 4.
3. Talk about what's safe to share.
4. Check who they've added as friends.
5. Revisit regularly – settings and conversations.

A few minutes now can prevent big problems later.
